

International Master in Regulatory Sciences (IMRS)

DEADLINE: July 15th 2016

The Master aims to provide students with the opportunity to:

1. promote understanding and knowledge of the regulatory systems;
2. create and update experienced professionals capable to participate in development, validation and marketing of products for human use and provide them with knowledge at European/non-European level;
3. foster opportunities for cooperation activities;
4. build partnership among HE and research institutions in Euro-Mediterranean countries;
5. offer new job opportunities for young people.

The mechanism of training the trainers will be adopted and is devoted to post graduate students, specialists in related disciplines, managers and officers of public (Ministries, universities, health care structures of agriculture, medicine and food ministries, Ministry of Labor and Security, structures of professional associations, cosmetic industry).

The Master provides a wide didactic offer with a complete course of 60 ECTS (1500 hrs.) and characterized by the following subjects: human pharmacology, authorisation procedures on national and international scenario, legal and regulatory requirements and controversies in different EU and non-EU countries, drug development process and plans, pharmacovigilance, toxicology and drug safety, environmental pharmacology food and Marketing Authorisation applications and dossiers.

Number of candidates to be admitted is: 15 – 25; tuition fee of € 3.500,00.

Language: English

The face to face didactic activities (300 hrs.) will be implemented at the Community of Mediterranean Universities (CMU) in Bari (Italy).

For further and more detailed information www.cmungo.org

The Turkish students are eligible to go on their PhD studies.

Undergraduate Education:

Medical & Veterinary Sciences, Health Sciences, Biology, Agriculture, Biotechnology, Law and Economics, Natural Sciences.

Language Score:

YDS: 60/ TOEFL: 100 – 120/ IELTS: 7.5 - 9

In case no satisfactory certification of English proficiency is provided, an online proficiency test will be administered by the School of Foreign Languages at Ondokuz Mayıs University (OMU). The required language proficiency test is 60. If the candidates have got a degree in English, no language test is necessary.

COORDINATORS

Prof. Dr. Yüksel Kesim- OMU (Turkey): kesimyuksel@gmail.com

Prof. Dr. Adriana Ceci –Gianni Benzi Pharmacological Research Foundation:
adriana.ceci@uniba.it