

Community of Mediterranean Universities

NGO recognized by UNESCO since 1987.
Presently “consultative status”

1. Legal status

The first article of the Statute of Community of Mediterranean Universities (CMU) states:
“... The CMU, upholding the freedom of science and in order to contribute to peace, . . .”.

These above-mentioned aims are still the main concern for CMU.

The CMU is deeply convinced that the culture, as a public good, can and will have a relevant role in the sustainable development of the Mediterranean as well as in other regions since the cultural, political and economic behaviours are mutually supportive and contribute to a peaceful surrounding.

The adhesion of CMU to the EFA process, the involvement in the PEACE programme, the association with the “Le Collège des hautes études européennes Miguel Servet”, the participation in the “United Nations Academic Impact” (UNAI) clearly indicate the willingness of the Community of Mediterranean Universities to pursue the goals stated in the above mentioned mission.

All its activities (the proposed masters of tourism and that on nutrition, the research on “Road Safety”, the adhesion to the implementation of a network of the Mediterranean Unitwin Chairs) are concerned in supporting the statements of the art. 1 of the Statute, the main goal being to enhance the creation of a new generation of experts sensible to actual world realities, able to effectively interpret and deal with the crucial problems of the region mastering a true partnership within the Mediterranean basin’s countries (south-south and south-north partnership).

As an added tool a particular relevance will be given to e-learning activities, in order to partially overcome the costs for the implementation of educational programmes and, therefore, as a mechanism for sustainable development of the region.

The CMU has also supported the and collaborated with many international bodies such as PEACE Programme, EMUNI, Tarragona Network, RMEI, United Nations Academic Impact (UNAI), Le Collège des hautes études européennes Miguel Servet, just to mention only some of them.

Furthermore, the CMU’s UNITWIN Chair has devoted its activity supporting the institutional aims of the network, i.e. the higher education programme and the scientific research.

The organization of many roundtables, workshops and meetings on topics crucial for the problems related to Mediterranean basin like desertification and water supply, the role of the Mediterranean women, the use of e-learning as an important component in the teaching activities etc. demonstrates the relevant role of CMU in deepening, with the contribution of experts belonging to most of the Mediterranean countries, crucial issues pertinent with this region.

Furthermore, we hope to succeed in convincing the universities to give full, multilateral equivalence to the degrees awarded in the different Mediterranean countries thanks to an agreement subscribed by the adhering Universities.

The proposal of implementing a network of the Mediterranean UNITWIN Chairs, and the CMU's Chair project to aggregate its activity on a global approach like "Higher Education and Research Programme on sustainable development in the Mediterranean region" called PESME, together with the formation of "Focus Groups", represent the consolidated willingness of CMU in contributing to a peaceful endeavour in the region.

In conclusion we are trying to change a "cultural ageing" to a "cultural development" in order to build up and foster our future towards a more peaceful regional integration.

The Community of Mediterranean Universities– CMU- is a non-profit association, established as a consortium among Universities according to the Presidential Decree 382/80 art. 91, by an act of the notary Giovanni Tatarano on 31 July 1985. It was promoted by the University of Bari as per authorization of the Ministry of Education contained in the Decree dated 28th December 1983, adopted in agreement with the Ministry of the Treasury and the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. In addition to the founding partners (UNIAN, UNIBA, UNILE, UNIPZ), there are currently 164 associated universities from 20 countries of the Mediterranean (Albania, Algeria, Croatia, Cyprus, Egypt, France, Jordan, Greece, Israel, Italy, Lebanon, Libya, Morocco, Montenegro, Palestine, Portugal, Syria, Spain, Tunisia, Turkey).

Associated Universities pay an annual fee of US $ 600, corresponding to a participation amounting to 0.06%.

The organs of the CMU:

- 1) The General Assembly, composed of representatives of all the Universities (Rector / President or delegate) and by the legal representatives of associated research centers (CHIEAM, RMEI, EMUNI)
- 2) The Council, composed of one representative of the universities of different countries and the legal representatives of associated research centers
- 3) The President, elected by the Council
- 4) The General Secretary, proposed by the President and elected by the Board. The President and the General Secretary are both legal representatives, the first for international affairs, the second for national affairs and both cannot have the same nationality as a condition of recognition by UNESCO and by UNAI (United Nations Academic Impact).

CMU has three seats: Bari, Taranto (IT) and Tanta (EG).

CMU established the Mediterranean City of Science together with the University of Bari on April 2, 2012; both partners share the capital into equal 50%.
